Workshops & Bootcamps

Our bootcamps & workshops are for anyone who wants to enter the creative industry, improve their employability and build self-confidence through soft skills development.

We provide a safe and supportive atmosphere where participants can learn, grow and thrive.

Each programme can also be designed to lead into job placements with a particular company, or delivered in partnership with a sponsor to maximise the value for both participants and organisations.

Upon request we can source employers with live job vacancies for candidates to be offered a guaranteed interview upon completion of a bootcamp/workshop or work placement for an additional fee.

All workshops are delivered at our premises, or can be delivered off-site at your request for an additional travel fee.

Supported Internships

Mango Studios LDN Academy delivers structured Supported Internships within a professional creative industry environment.

The programme is designed for young people aged 14 to 25 who are not in education, employment or training, at risk of becoming NEET or who require additional tailored support to progress.

Our internships provide meaningful industry exposure alongside structured supervision, mentoring and personalised development planning.

Participants do not undertake simulated tasks. They contribute to real projects within a working studio, gaining practical experience in film production, podcasting, digital media, live production and content creation.

Internships are delivered 2 to 4 days per week depending on referral needs and funding arrangements.

Placements are typically delivered for up to one academic year, with structured termly review points to monitor progress, engagement and outcomes.

Supported Internships costs are determined based on level of support required, placement intensity and referral needs. A detailed cost proposal is provided following initial consultation.

Initial enquiries are welcomed to discuss suitability and placement structure.
